-It rains and it snows, and then it clears up and turns cold, and we have a air day now and then. We are talking about the weather now.

-J. A. Rigney came over from Richhill Sunday to see his daughter, Miss Lou, who is attending school at Janie Wash Institute. P. M. Taylor and A. H. Mays went to Louisville last week.

-- Rav. - Shouse, a cousin of Rev. Jno, S. Shouse, of Lexington, and a very youthful, but promising minister of Somerset, preached at the Baptist church Sunday. The congregation was favorably impressed with him.

-Green river gets on a tear occasionally of late but has kept within her banks so far, and has done but little damage. Though it is the prophecy of several of our older citizens that this is the year for a "big fresh."

J. M. Tilford, a very worthy republican of this precinct, is a candidate for the republican nomination for county judge. As the repudlicans seem to have this county "in a sling," we would as much prefer to see Mr. Tilford honored with the position he seeks as any one of his party we know. John is strictly honest and would doubtless make a faithful officer,

-At the sale of Benj Bastin, deceased, on the 7th inst everything sold extremely high. Corn brought on an average of $2.55 per barrel and everything else correspondingly high. Candidates were as thick as fiddlers are thought to be in that place where we don't want to go, and hand shaking seemed to be the only thing on the program. -Wm. Estes, aged 76 years, died at his home near Mt. Salem, Feb. 9th. Mr. Estes was a good neighbor and in his death the community loses one of its best citizens, one whose place will be hard to fill. The wife and children lose a kind father and a loving husband. Mr. Estes had been a consistent member of the Christian church for a number of years and died in the full hope of a blessed resurrection beyond the grave.

-J. B. Farmer and W. H. Colyer, A. E. Albright Dr. I. S. Burdett and a few others have organized a string band at this place.

-The Brodhead Brass Band will give an entertoinment at Albright's Hall on the night of 25th inst. The boys have purchased new instruments and feel like the public ought to patronize them.

-Mr. E. E. Prothers and Miss Mamie Perkins eloped to Tenn., Monday night and when they returned Tuesday the change seemed to be that Mr. Prothers had been made a member of the long established firm of Martin & Perkins at this place. We understand that others will soon follow.

-Mrs. Dr. J. M. Clarke went to Crab Orchard Tuesday and returned on the night train last night in company with Miss Payne and others and Dr. I. S. Burdett joined them at the depot and are all gone the way of all the (world. Mr. A. E. Albright has gone to Bee Lick to attend the wedding of his brother-in-law Dr. S. C. Perkins.

-February 14th, a day sacred to St. Valentine. It was a very old notion, alluded to by Shakspeare that on this day birds begin to couple. Hence, perhaps, arose the custom of sending on this day professions of love and affection. But we think that Shakspeare's saying does not only apply to the birds of the air but to the doctors of this neighborhood. For Dr. S. C. Perkins and Miss Della Barvens, both of Bee Lick, married on that day and Dr. I. S. Burdett, of Brodhead, and Miss Rilla Payne, of Crab Orchard, eloped to Jellico, Tenn., last night.

THE daily papers announced last week that Will Purvis, the Mississippi white cap, had been hung according to sertence, but they must have taken it for granted. The sheriff is a superstitious kind of a fellow, and when he adjusted the noose, sprung the trap and sent the body through the hole and the rope broke, he was satisfied that it was a Providential escape from hanging an innocent man, and he yielded to the clamor not to try him again. Purvis was not hurt much and what is to be done with him now is a question that is puzzling the lawyers, while people are inquiring what will be done with the sheriff, who failed to execute the sentence to hang the man by the neck until he was dead.

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS.

Should a Woman Starve Rather Than Work

to Support Herself? In a note between a whine and a howl a male person writes to a newspaper abusing women because they enter the breadwinning occupations and crowd out "men," one of whom he evidently considers himself to be. He says that his place, which he had held for many years, was taken by a young woman during his illness, and when he recovered the firm refused to discharge the young woman and take him back. For this he rails at our sex and says that in his opinion when woman leaves housekeeping and dressmaking "she becomes a usurper and man's enemy." Here is an opinion worthy of Mr. Jack Bunsby. But what is the proper opinion to hold concerning men when they go into housework and dressmaking, as so many are doing in constantly increasing numbers, this and starve in order to give him, the male person, back his place, but we infer that this is the case. The long and short of it is, when men support women, women men do not and cannot support all women in our time; therefore women must and will earn their own living. We would sacrifice much for the dear men, whom, one and all, we adore. But starve? No. It is not men's duty to support all the women. It is the duty of men and women to do exactly as each individual pleases about the matter. If a man wants to earn bread for a woman, let him, if she is willing. But if she wishes to or must support herself, then, by all the laws of justice and common sense, it is as much her right to choose her occupation as it is that of any man ever born. Manly men recognize the changed conditions of society and give all the aid and encouragement they can to the womand encouragement they can to the woman an who must get her bread in paths hithertountrodden by her sex. They know that it is development and necessity that have forced this choice upon her, and they would die before they would lay one straw in her way. But as to the male person who comes with his whine and howl about women's crowding men out of their employment—well, heaven send him better light and knowledge!

Remember Gladstone's life motto, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."

The women of Colorado are wise. As soon as the vote granting them full suffrage had been taken, they began in their various clubs and other organizations the study of politics. Superintendent Byrnes of the New York police says to all women, "Don't Olives, carry your pocketbooks in your hands." He recommends them to return to the useful fashion of pockets in their gowns. Pockets in the inside lining of coats and wraps he thinks would be a good thing. There are more purse snatchers abroad this winter than ever were before. It is partly owing to hard times, also partly to woman's fashion of carrying her pocketbook in her hand.

The woman who would let her hus band beat her so long as he supports her, however wretchedly, rather than leave him and earn her own living, is a very mean spirited creature indeed.

Here is an excellent way to invest some money: If you have a good large sum, build a cluster of cottages in the suburbs of some large city, in a spot of easy access to the city. Have the cottages small, with perhaps no more than five or six rooms, but have them perfect in every detail of sanitation and modern conveniences. Have a little yard around each, large enough for flower beds and some shrubbery. Then rent or sell the cottages to self respecting working women. They will rise up and call you blessed. It is hard at present for self supporting women who are alone to get suitable homes. They could club together in twos and threes and make ideal homes in such cottages.
